

Severe Weather Protocol

In the rare event of severe weather, an announcement will be made indicating that classes will be delayed or cancelled, or that the University will be open as usual on the following day. Students will receive a text alert from the University.