

HIST 242: Historical and Political Geography

This course considers the interaction between world cultures, environments, and geographic regions to explain patterns of human history and political development.

Credits: 3

Program: History & Social Science

Semester Offered: Spring