

NURS 417: Mental Health Nursing

This course is designed for the student to learn and demonstrate evidence-based, patient-centered psychiatric care for adults and adolescents in a variety of mental health settings. Opportunities are provided for students to increase competencies in clinical reasoning, building therapeutic relationships, interprofessional collaborative communication, professional self-awareness, and legal-ethical issues patient care and patient safety in mental health nursing. 3 Theory 1 Clinical/Lab

Credits: 4

Prerequisites:

All 200 and 300 nursing courses

Program: Nursing

Semester Offered: Fall

Spring