COMM 480: Communication Internship

This internship course offers the advanced student university credit for on-the-job, off-campus work in film, radio, television, public relations or advertising under the joint direction of departmental staff and a supervisor at the organization or business selected. Ideally, the internship will occur the summer between the student's junior and senior years. Eligible for IP grading.

Credits: 1-3
Prerequisites:
Permission of the department chair and instructor.
Program: Communication