

HIST 242: Historical and Political Geography

This course considers the interaction between world cultures, environments, and geographic regions to explain patterns of human history and political development.

Credits:

3

Program:

History & Social Science

Semester Offered:

Spring